Welcome to the Regulatory Services Platform

The Regulatory Services Platform (RSP) is an online tool designed to support environmental protection while streamlining processes for Canadians, businesses and organizations.

The RSP enables users to efficiently meet their environmental obligations and commitments while facilitating an effective approach to the implementation of Environment and Climate Change Canada (ECCC) environmental risk management instruments.

The platform currently allows users to provide information and data to ECCC for the following instruments:

Filter items

Apply

Instrument name 	Instrument description 	Instrument link
Clean Electricity Regulations (CER)	The Regulations set limits for carbon dioxide emissions from electricity generating units that burn fossil fuels and meeting the applicability criteria, starting in 2035.	Sign in to RSP
Federal Plastics Registry (FPR)	The FPR is designed to monitor and track plastics from production to end-of-life. It requires plastic resin manufacturers, producers of plastic products, and service providers to report annually on the quantity and types of plastic they place on the Canadian market, as well as how that plastic moves through the economy.
